The events of the Great War intensified the relationship between the British Empire and Australia—the legacy can still be felt today.

Australia and the Great War explores both the immediate and long-term consequences of the war on this complex relationship, looking in particular at identity, history, gender, propaganda, economics and nationalism.

This multidisciplinary collection of essays unveils the creation and subsequent [mis]use of histories and mythologies while considering the necessity and nature of both remembering, and forgetting, war.

Michael J.K. Walsh is Associate Professor of Art History and Associate Chair (Research) in the School of Art, Design and Media at Nanyang Technological University in Singapore. His research interests focus on the relationship between Modernism and the Great War, and this has resulted in several books, including This Cult of Violence and London, Modernism and 1914. Michael’s research continues to explore the relationship between culture and conflict, with a particular focus on music and musicians. He is currently completing a monograph on the war songs of Eric Bogle.

Andrekos Varnava is a Senior Lecturer in Imperial and Military History at Flinders University. He is the author of British Imperialism in Cyprus, 1878–1915: The Inconsequential Possession and the editor/co-editor of various volumes, including, most recently, Imperial Expectations and Realities: El Dorados, Utopias and Dystopias. His next book is Serving the Empire in the Great War: The Cypriot Mule Corps, Imperial Loyalty and Silenced Memory, forthcoming in 2016.

Together, Michael J.K. Walsh and Andrekos Varnava have edited The Great War and the British Empire: Conflict and Culture, also forthcoming in 2016.
Australia and the Great War
Australia and the Great War

Identity, Memory and Mythology

Edited by Michael JK Walsh and Andrekos Varnava
Contents

1 Australia’s Great War: Contemporary and Historiographical Debates
   Michael J K Walsh and Andrekos Varnava
   1

Part I: Identities and Australianness

2 Red Crossing for War: Responses of Imperial Feminism and the Australian Red Cross during the Great War
   Melanie Oppenheimer
   25

3 Establishing Australian Medical–Military Expertise: The Gallipoli Landings
   Alexia Moncrieff
   40

4 From the Boer War to the Great War: Atrocity Propaganda and Complex Imperialism at the Westralian Worker
   1900–1917
   Emily Robertson
   54

5 The Enemy at the Gates: The 1918 Mystery Aeroplane Panic in Australia and New Zealand
   Brett Holman
   71

6 Saving the Australian War Effort in 1916? Global Climatic Conditions, Pests and William Morris Hughes’s Negotiations with the British Government
   Daniel Marc Segesser
   97

7 Loyalty Becoming Disloyalty? The War and Irish–Australians Before and After Easter 1916
   Stephanie James
   110

8 ‘This is Against All the British Traditions of Fair Play’: Violence Against Greeks on the Australian Home Front during the Great War
   Joy Damousi
   128
Part II: Memory and Mythology

9 Mustafa Kemal at Gallipoli: The Making of a Saga, 1921–1932
   Ayhan Aktar
   149

10 Dangerous Ground and Fatal Shore: Remediating Gallipoli
   Silvia Mergenthal
   172

11 Revealing Homer, Herodotus and Thucydides in CEW Bean’s Official History
   Sarah Midford
   188

12 CEW Bean’s Passchendaele
   Ashleigh Gilbertson
   204

13 Nationalism and War Memory in Australia
   Carolyn Holbrook
   218

14 From Competitive Memory to Comparative Commemoration: Tom Nicholson’s Palestine Monument and the Great War Centenary
   Ryan Johnston
   240

Select Bibliography
   257

Biographies of Contributors
   266

Index
   271